

A D A M CLEWLEY

Experienced and motivated graduate seeking an entry-level position in web design and development in order to utilise the coding and design skills acquired throughout post-graduate education.

Passionate about content strategy, and web accessibility issues. User experience should always be at the core of the design process.

Equally effective working solo, or within a team environment. My approach to problem solving is logical, practical and professional. In short, I am reliable, trustworthy, hardworking and eager.
